Many children like to watch videos or play games on screens. Technology can be fun and educational, but too much screen time can make kids feel distracted, tired, and less active. Parents say children must have limits on how long they use screens each day. Children should also spend time outside playing sports, exploring nature, and talking with friends. Using screens at night can make it hard to sleep well, affecting health and mood. Smart users of technology change settings on their devices to reduce brightness, limit screen time, and take breaks often. Schools and parents can help children learn smart habits to control screen time. Developing these habits is important because Egypt's future depends on children growing up healthy, focused, and responsible. Learning to balance screen use with outdoor activities helps children improve both their mental and physical well-being while enjoying technology safely.

3. Read the following text, then answer the questions:(6 Marks)

Salma was always scared of deep water. Every summer, her friends would go swimming, but Salma would sit quietly by the pool and watch them splash, laugh, and play. She wished she could join them, but her fear always stopped her. One day, her mom signed her up for swimming lessons and said gently, "Just try. You might surprise yourself." At first, Salma didn't want to go, but she finally agreed because she wanted to become braver.

On the first day of lessons, Salma only dipped her feet in the cool water. The next week, she learned how to float with the instructor's help. Each lesson made her a little more confident. She practiced breathing, kicking, and moving her arms slowly but steadily. By not giving up and trying her best every time, she finally reached her goal. By the end of the month, she could swim across the entire pool. Her friends cheered loudly for her, and Salma couldn't wait for their next swimming trip.

A) Choose the correct answer from a, b, c, or d:

- 1 The main idea of the passage is
a) Salma visited the swimming pool every summer
b) Salma learned to overcome her fear of water through practice

One rainy morning, Sara walked into her classroom and saw something surprising. Her teacher wasn't there. Instead, a shiny robot stood at the front of the room.

"Good morning, students," it said. "I am a robot teacher. I will be your AI teacher this week."

The students were confused. The robot teacher explained, "I will help each of you learn in a special way. At the end of the week, your lessons will be customized just for you." The robot knew what each student needed. It gave Sara extra grammar practice and Nader fun math games. Homework was checked instantly, and no one had to wait for feedback.

After a few days, Sara missed her real teacher. The robot teacher was helpful, but it didn't smile or notice when students felt tired or sad. One morning, a hungry fox found a delicious piece of cheese lying on the ground. He picked it up with excitement and was about to eat when he noticed a crow sitting on a nearby tree. The crow watched the fox closely, its eyes were shining with envy. The fox didn't notice the crow at first, too focused on the cheese in his mouth.

The crow, seeing the cheese, wanted it for himself. He decided to flatter the fox, saying, "You are the smartest and most handsome fox I have ever seen!" The fox, feeling proud, puffed out his chest. Pleased by the praise, the fox thought he should sing to show off his voice. He believed that if he sang, the crow would be even more impressed.

As he opened his mouth to sing, the cheese fell to the ground. The crow quickly swooped down, grabbed the cheese, and flew away. The fox, realizing he had been tricked, was left with nothing, but a lesson: never trust flattery from those who want something from you.

AI serves as the "brain" inside a robot, enabling it to make decisions, learn from actions, and dynamically change its behavior. For instance, a robot vacuum cleaner equipped with AI can learn the precise shape of a room to improve its cleaning efficiency over time. Without AI, the robot is restricted to following only basic, pre-set orders.

Robots powered by AI are used in many environments. In hospitals, they assist by delivering medicine or helping during surgery. In schools, they help students practice new languages or solve complex math problems.

Despite these advancements, robots and AI face limitations. They cannot truly understand human emotions and frequently require human assistance for programming and operation. Additionally, the development and production of smart, capable robots can be significantly expensive.

AI in robots allows them to perform tasks too dangerous for humans, like exploring dangerous areas or handling heavy machinery. As AI advances, robots will take on more roles in industries like manufacturing and space exploration. However, concerns about job loss and privacy still need to be addressed.

A) Choose the correct answer from a, b, c, or d:

Hey friends, welcome back! Today we're talking about smart cities and smart habits. Egypt is making great strides with amazing projects like the New Administrative Capital, the Monorail, and the Green River. These projects are built using cutting-edge technology and innovative ideas. However, big projects require smart citizens—people who are focused, healthy, and use technology wisely.

If we spend too much time scrolling through our phones or gaming, we lose energy and focus. That's why managing screen time is essential. Young people like us will become the future engineers, designers, and leaders of Egypt. By developing strong habits now—such as turning off distractions and using technology for learning—we can prepare ourselves to build a better future for the country.

Dr. Magdi Yacoub was born in Egypt in 1935. As a child, he enjoyed reading about science and medicine. He was always fascinated by how things worked, especially the human body. When his father's sister died from heart disease, Magdi felt very sad. This tragedy sparked a deep curiosity within him. He began to wonder how doctors could save people with heart problems. This question stayed in his mind for years. He spoke to doctors and researchers, trying to understand the complexities of the heart. He decided to study medicine and learn everything about the heart. His search for answers led him to become a heart surgeon. He later traveled to the UK to continue his studies, where he became one of the world's leading heart surgeons. By following his curiosity, Magdi discovered his true purpose: to save lives. His work not only saved many lives, but also inspired others to follow similar paths. His story shows that sometimes our goals come from a question or problem we want to solve.

Stories spark our imagination and make learning more enjoyable. We often remember lessons better when they are part of a story. That's why many of us love reading stories—they ① us, teach us important life skills, and help us grow ② and emotionally. In the end, reading stories is not just fun; it's also a ③ way to become wiser and more ④ of the world. ourselves.

3 Read the following text then answer the questions:

Reading is my hobby. I read storybooks, magazines and newspapers. This hobby started when I was a little boy. My parents used to read fairy tales and other stories to me. I started reading with simple ABC books. Soon I could read simple fairy tales and other stories. Reading enables me to learn about so many things that I would not know before. I learned about how people lived in olden days of magic and mystery. I learned about the world, space travel, human achievements, gigantic whales, tiny viruses and other fascinating things about our world.

The wonderful thing about reading is that I do not have to learn things the hard way. For example, I do not have to go deep into the jungle to learn about the tiger. I can read all about it in a book. Books provide the reader with so much information and facts. They have certainly helped me in my daily life. It is indeed a good hobby.

When I was a child, I loved spending hours reading books. I borrowed them from the library or received them as gifts, but nothing felt as getting a brand-new book. There was something special about being the first person to get through its pages. However, I didn't start reading it at once. Instead, I liked to take my time, looking at the cover and pictures. Once I started reading, I couldn't stop. My love for books grew so much that it became an expensive habit and so, my parents encouraged me to borrow library books. One day, while reading a library book, I found two hundred pounds hidden inside. Without a second thought, I returned the book and the money to the librarian and forgot about it. A month later, the librarian called me with news. He couldn't find the owner of the money, so he decided to give it to me. I'm sure you know how I spent this unexpected gift.

Omar was always the quietest one in class. He liked listening while others talking. But when his teacher, Mr. Tamer, announced a debate competition, Omar suddenly wanted to join. "Maybe it's time I talk," he thought. He signed up and chose the topic: "Why every voice matters." The night before the debate, Omar stayed up late. He wrote his ideas, changed some sentences, and practiced in front of the mirror. His hands were shaking, but each time he practiced, his voice became stronger. On the day of the event, Omar stood nervously on the stage. The room was full of people, but he remembered what he had practiced. He spoke in a clear voice, telling stories about people who made a difference just by talking. When he finished, the room was quiet and then everyone clapped loudly. Mr. Tamer smiled and said, "You found your voice, Omar."

After that day, Omar wasn't just the quiet boy. He became the student who was brave enough to speak in a debate.

3. Read the following, then answer the questions (6 marks):

Recycling is important for our environment. It means taking old, used items and making them into new things. This helps to reduce the amount of waste that goes into landfills, which is a big problem in many cities. Also, recycling saves energy, as making products from recycled materials often uses less energy than making them from new raw materials. Paper, plastic, and glass are some of the most common materials we can recycle. To make recycling successful, everyone in the community must take part. For example, some schools have started special bins for students to put their plastic bottles in. We should all encourage our families and friends to make recycling a daily habit, and to use less plastic in the first place.

A) Choose the correct answer:

- 1- The passage is mainly about
 - a. saving energy
 - b. school projects

2- Read the following text, then answer the questions: (6 Marks)

Last month, I decided to start a small online journal to record moments from my daily life. At first, I wasn't sure what to write about, but then I realised that simple experiences can teach us a lot. One day, for example, I wrote about waiting for the bus with my neighbour, Samy. He told me that he always uses this time to plan his day instead of scrolling through his phone. His idea seemed interesting, so I tried it myself. I noticed that I felt calmer and more organised.

Another entry in my journal described how I volunteered at a local event. I worked with a group of students who were very cooperative and full of energy. Their positive attitude inspired me to continue helping others. Keeping this journal has shown me that small actions can have a big impact on how we feel and how we grow.

Choose the correct answer from a, b, c or d:

1-What is the main idea of the text?

- a) The writer enjoys spending time on the bus.
- b) The writer explains how keeping a journal improved their daily life.
- c) The writer stopped using their phone completely.
- d) The writer wants to become a professional journalist.

2- What does the underlined phrase "big impact" most nearly mean?

- a) loud sound
- b) strong effect

- c) sudden change
- d) heavy weight

3-What does the word "He" in paragraph 1 refer to?

- a) the bus driver
- b) the writer
- c) the neighbour, Samy
- d) one of the volunteers

Answer the following questions:

- 4- What idea did Samy share with the writer while waiting for the bus?
- 5- What can you infer about the students who volunteered at the event?
- 6- Do you think keeping a journal can help students become more organised? Why or why not?
